

EADMFR Research Awards Guidelines

The European Academy of DentoMaxilloFacial Radiology (EADMFR) may offer the following prestigious awards to its young members, made possible by a generous donation from the EADMFR industrial partners, in order to encourage and stimulate research in dentomaxillofacial imaging.

1. EADMFR Research Award

- 1st prize Oral Presentation: € 1500
- 1st prize Poster Presentation: € 1000
- 2nd prize Oral Presentation: € 1000
- 2nd prize Poster Presentation: € 500

If you wish to join the competition, you submit an abstract AND an extended abstract with those guidelines. This goes both for the oral and the poster session.

Separate poster and oral sessions will be arranged for this award competition at the Scientific Meeting of the EADMFR during the 1st day of the congress, where the finalists' work will be presented. The final decision will be made after the approval of the EADMFR officers before the General Meeting. A member who has been awarded with a research award (oral or poster presentation) will not be considered for future award presentations.

The committee scores the extended abstracts AND decides whether the person can 1) join and 2) go into oral or poster. The person will select when submitting which competition he/she wants to enter, but in the end, the committee decides.

The oral competition is an online live presentation, taking 10 minutes and 5 min for discussion.

The poster competition is to be sent as a video of a "poster". This can take no more than 5 minutes - if longer it will be cancelled. Thereafter the presenter must be available on-line live to answer questions during 5 minutes.

2. EADMFR Research Fellowship Grant

In order to promote academic exchange between European academic/research institutions, and to stimulate research in all areas of dentomaxillofacial Imaging, EADMFR offers a Research Fellowship grant with a maximum value up to € 4000. This award is intended for young researchers to conduct a specific research project (or part of one) on a short-term basis within a hosting institute. A first part of the prize is awarded after the winner announcement, a second part (ca. € 500) at the project's end, to cover the costs for the winner to present his/her exchange experience/results at the following EADMFR congress. The fellowship duration of the exchange must be at least three months at the hosting institute. The grant will be valid for 2 years starting from the announcement and should be refunded if not initiated and at least three months of collaboration have passed before the following EADMFR congress. The Fellowship Grant cannot be awarded more than once per member.

CRITERIA

Original research, clinical case studies as well as well-documented case reports/series limited to any aspect of dentomaxillofacial imaging will be considered. Projects will be judged on (1) Scientific and clinical value (2) Originality and design (3) Suitability of the analysis methods (4) Quality of the data produced for the research awards with presentation during the meeting, and (5) Quality of the presentation, defense, power-point/poster design (6) Demonstrated mastery of the subject.

The awards will not be given if the conditions or the required research quality are not met. All submitted abstracts will be assessed and finalists selected by the Research and Scientific Committee (RSC) with announcement in due time. The RSC is responsible for assessing both the abstracts and the presentations at the congress. Members of the RSC, who are involved in an abstract or have other conflicts of interest, must refrain from performing any assessment. If there are less than three unbiased members of the RSC for the assessment procedure or present at the congress, the RSC chair person is responsible for inviting unbiased substitutes in consultation with the board.

DEADLINES

The deadline for all submissions (general abstract, extended abstract, fellowship application) will be the same as the EADMFR congress abstract submissions. The date will be published on the congress website.

AWARDS

The winners will be announced by the RSC chair during the EADMFR Congress General Meeting, and later again in the following EADMFR Newsletter. A list of previous winners will be kept by AIM.

Applicants should submit an abstract for presentation at the meeting according to the congress guidelines available (congress website). During the submission process, there will be an opportunity for applicants to indicate their wish to enter the competitions. Abstracts will be reviewed in the normal reviewing process of the congress, for acceptance within the scientific program. In addition, all eligible abstracts marked to enter the competition will be considered by the RSC for the awards and grants, if an extended abstract and cover letter have been submitted.
